MESSAGE

I recall with great pleasure, the launch of the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation during my tenure as Sri Lanka's High Commissioner to India. The initiative to set up the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation was inspired by the ancient links between Lanka which is present-day Sri Lanka, and the historical region of Kalinga, present-day Odisha and Andhra Pradesh. Details of the ancient links between Kalinga and Lanka are recorded in our historical chronicles. Kalinga has played a significant role in Sri Lanka's history, traces of which still resonate across time in the present day.

My several visits to Odisha during my tenure as High Commissioner to India made me feel very much at home on the basis of familiarity of traditions, dance forms, names, and even some of the words in Odia which are similar to my own mother-tongue, Sinhalese.

I am grateful to several eminent Indian personalities, in particular, Ambassador Lalit Mansingh, Founder President of the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation, who hail from Odisha, who were instrumental in setting up this Foundation with a view to reviving and renewing our ancient links for the benefit of those in present-day Sri Lanka and what was Kalinga in India, so that these links can be carried forward into the future.

I am pleased to note that the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation is progressing well. However, it requires the support of all concerned in both countries to evolve through meaningful programmes and projects that will promote people-to-people contact and benefit the people of Odisha and Sri Lanka.

In this context, I look forward to continue supporting the work of the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation. May this Foundation lead the people of Odisha and Sri Lanka to grow ever closer through the discovery of their ancient links, and inspire them to forge partnerships that will engender greater cooperation and collaboration in creative and innovative ways that would benefit our peoples.

MESSAGE

At the onset I, wish to extend my sincere wishes to the Kalinga Lanka Foundation, which was established in the year 2014 as a socio-cultural organization on the initiative of the former Indian Foreign Secretary Lalit Mansingh and High Commissioner of Sri Lanka to India Prasad Kariyawasam and a group of likeminded people from Odisha and Sri Lanka, to highlight the common heritage and strengthen the historical relationship between peoples of India with a particular reference to Odisha (erstwhile Kalinga) and peoples of Sri Lanka. I join hands with KLF at this special moment of the launch of this important publication that has been able to encapsulate the important milestones over the centuries.

I am happy to note that KLF has evolved with a distinguished life membership that would impact positively to the objective of the Foundation in the long-term. Through a multi dimensional approach KLF has taken initiatives in the fields of art & culture, education, skills development, science & technology, tourism, business and other areas. I observe that the last one year has been marked by interactions of KLF and Sri Lanka and I hope that KLF will continue to strive to preserve and revive the historic connections to strengthen the relations between India and Sri Lanka. .

Buddhism as a link played an important role and impact on the Odisha Sri Lanka relationship. This affinity that connected both communities still continue to be a source that attracts travelers from Sri Lanka, especially to the diamond triangle of Lalitgiri, Udaygiri and Ratnagiri and continues to fascinate visitors and scholars with archaeological findings.

Looking back at ancient historical times Odisha had maintained close connections. Kalinga had strong ties with Simhala (Sri Lanka). According to historical Chronicle Samanthaprasadika , when King Ashoka sent his son to Ceylon, he was accompanied by eight families from Kalinga. Equally, the Dathuwamsa Chronicle refers to the friendship between King Guhasiva of Kalinga and King Mahasen of Ceylon from 277-304 AD. History also highlights the King of Kalinga handing over the tooth relic of Gautama Buddha as a dowry to Prince Danthakumara on his marriage to the King's daughter Princess Hemamala .

These political relations further extended to trade relations. It is also important to mention that the trade linkages between Odisha and Sri Lanka also flourished in the years during 1st and 2nd Century BC Indian trade through Bay of Bengal was controlled by the Ports of Kalinga and Coromandal coast. The trade links that Sri Lanka Odisha maintained is testified through the Ceylon coins with legend Srimad Sahassamalla that has been discovered at Manikpatuna. In this manner Kalinga has laid a foundation to the evolving India-Sri Lanka relations in many spheres.

Looking at these multifaceted connections that both Sri Lanka and Odisha shared, I hope that the Kalinga Lanka Foundation will continue to contribute to the enhancing of India-Sri Lanka relations in the years ahead. I wish the KLF every success.

INTRODUCTION BY PRESIDENT

Mr D.P.Bagchi, IAS (Retd)
President, Kalinga Lanka Foundation

Four years ago, the Kalinga Lanka Foundation(KLF) was founded as a result of an idea born out of intense interaction between two scholarly diplomats, the then High Commissioner of Sri Lanka in India, Ambassador Prasad Kariyawasam and Ambassador Lalit Mansingh, Former Foreign Secretary of India. These two stalwarts went into the two millennia of civilizational relationship between the peoples of the then Kalinga (modern Odisha and parts of States to the North and South) and Sri Lanka. The idea has appealed to many. Today it is developing deep roots.

We are grateful to the successive High Commissioners of Sri Lanka for giving solid support to the KLF. Govt of Odisha and Govt of India (particularly the Indian Council for Cultural Relations-ICCR) have been very supportive. We thank them. We also thank the Corporate Members, Institutional Members and Individual Members listed in this booklet, for being active supporters and participants. We now wish to induct young members. The process has just begun.

Sri Lanka, after the end of a three decade old civil war, was then ushering in a new era of growth and development. It is therefore strategically significant to explore and re-instate the thriving relationship of ancient India with Sri Lanka to pave way for the future engagements. The legacy of ancient Kalinga is deeply embedded in every aspect of the day-to-day lifestyle of the population in Sri Lanka be it Buddhism, art & culture, food orethnic linkages.

The deliberations, through an academic seminar, will bring light the contacts between the two regions which evolved for over 2000 years through socio-economic, spiritual, cultural and marital linkages. The relationship tapered off around the 16th century A.D. due to political developments and the advent of foreign rulers in both the countries.

Hence, the focus of the aforesaid academic-cum-business seminar was to develop awareness and activate an age-old relationship between Sri Lanka and India through fresh initiatives in the field of education, art, culture, Buddhist pilgrimage, tourism, skill developments, joint ventures and commerce. The 2-days long seminar comprised of six sessions of diversified subjects like (1) Retracing Shared history (2) Buddhism: Reviving a Common Heritage (3) Development of Tourism and the Buddhist Circuit (4) Joint Ventures and Economic Co-operation (5) Educational Opportunities & Collaborations (6) Cultural Exchanges.

Welcome Address by Ambassador Lalit Mansingh, Founder President, Kalinga Lanka Foundation

“Your Excellency, Shri SC Jamir, the Honourable Governor of Odisha, distinguished personalities on the podium, our honoured guests from Sri Lanka, young friends from the University, member of the media, ladies and gentlemen, on behalf of the Kalinga Lanka Foundation, I would like to extend a warm welcome to all of you and especially to His Excellency the Governor of Odisha, Shri SC Jamir, who, when we approached him, graciously and readily agreed to inaugurate this seminar. I am also pleased to welcome His Excellency the High Commissioner of Sri Lanka, Mr. Esala Weerakoon, who is the patron-in-Chief of the Kalinga Lanka Foundation, the Hon Minister of Industries of Odisha, Shri. Debi Prasad Mishra, the Hon Minister for Culture and Tourism of Odisha, Shri Ashok Chandra Panda, our distinguished patron, Shri.B.J.Panda, Member of Parliament, Shri.Gokul Pati, Chief Secretary of Odisha and Ms.Namrata Kumar, Deputy Director General of the ICCR.Their presence at this first major event of the Kalinga Lanka Foundation gives us inspiration and encouragement.

The Kalinga Lanka project has been for me, personally and professionally, a lifelong mission. Some sixty years ago, I was studying History (Hons) in this University, though not on this campus. My Professors were among the best historians Odisha has produced: Dr.Ghanshyam Das, Dr.Navin Kumar Sahu, Dr. Manmath Nath Das, Dr.Prabhat Mukherjee, Dr.Bhawani Rai, Dr.Altaf Hussain and the two Dr.Rajendra Dases. It was Dr.Navin Sahu's pioneering research on Buddhism in Odisha which planted the desire in me to pursue the history of Kalinga's shadowy links to Sri Lanka. I shared my plan to work on a doctorate on Kalinga and Lanka with my friend and classmate Dr.K.S. Behera, a great historian himself, and he painstakingly wrote out a bibliography for me, which I still preserve.

Twenty years after I joined the Foreign Service, I had my first opportunity to visit Sri Lanka. I looked around. Yes, the Sri Lankans did look like distant cousins. I could even follow their language on Roopa Vahini, their television. A shop keeper in Colombo asked me what I thought was an absurd question. Sir, your name is Lalith Manasingha; Why are you carrying an Indian Passport? It struck me that my name had been pronounced in the Oriya way for the first time outside Odisha!

Kalinga has played a large role in Sri Lanka's history. The Sinhala trace their ancestry to the Kalinga prince Vijaya who landed on their shores with seven hundred men in the 6th Century BCE. Three centuries later Emperor Ashoka came to Kalinga as a blood thirsty conqueror but returned to his capital Pataliputra as a remorseful, peace loving follower of the Buddha.

Sri Lanka was the collateral beneficiary of the Kalinga war. Ashoka sent his daughter and son Sanghamitra and Mahendra to plant a sapling of the sacred Bodhi tree and to spread the message of Buddhism in Sri Lanka. The two nations maintained close dynastic, political, commercial, cultural and religious contacts for close to a fifteen hundred years.

The sacred tooth relic of the Buddha was taken to Sri Lanka from the Kalinga capital of Dantapura, identified by Dr.Navin Kumar Sahu as Palur on the Chilika Lake.

Some of the most famous kings in Sri Lanka's history were connected to Kalinga, by blood or by marriage. Mention may be made of, King Vijaya Bahu, perhaps also known as 'Kalinga Magha' and King Nissanka Malla. Incidentally, the queen of King Vijay Bahu was Trilokasundari, a princess from Kalinga.

The Sinhala language still retains remarkable similarities with the languages of Eastern India. It is interesting in Odiya the chilly is called 'Lanka Maricha' and the cashew fruit is called 'Lanka Amba'.

We are honoured to have with us HE the High Commissioner of Sri Lanka, Mr.Esala Weerakoon, who is here on his very first visit outside Delhi. He is joined by a galaxy of leading scholars and experts from Sri Lanka. Among them are (1) Prof.B Nandadeva (University of Kelaniya), (2) Prof.S Coperhewa (University of Colombo), (3) Prof.Asanga Thilakaratne (University of Colombo (to join later), (4) Prof.Anura Manatunga (University of Kelaniya), (5) Mr.R. Vijesekhara (based in Delhi), and (6) Prof.Anoma Abhayaratne (South Asia University, Delhi). They will have an opportunity to exchange views with the best experts we have within Odisha and outside.

To all our distinguished Sri Lankan friends in this gathering, I am pleased to greet you with 'Ayu Bhowan' and welcome you to the land of your ancestors!

This seminar is not entirely an exercise in historical nostalgia. Even as we seek greater clarity through the fog of our historical past, we need to look ahead and assess the potential benefits of a renewed partnership.

India is Sri Lanka's largest trading partner, globally, while Sri Lanka is India's second largest trading partner in SAARC. Our mutual trade and investments have taken a leap forward after the signing of the India-Sri Lanka Free Trade Agreement in 2000. One of the objectives of this seminar is to bring up new ideas on how to promote joint ventures in mutually beneficial areas like textiles, gems and jewellery, trade and tourism.

Sri Lanka has recently completed a new port in Hambantota. Odisha has similarly built Paradip and Dhamra, as modern versions of the ancient Kalinga ports of Tampralipa, Dantapura and Kalingapattanam. Sri Lanka and the Eastern region of India enjoy a strategic advantage for exploring the economic potential of the vast markets of ASEAN and beyond that, of the giant economies of China, Japan and Australia.

The Kalinga Lanka Foundation's resources are modest, but its aspirations are unlimited. This seminar is just the first step in what we foresee is a long and rewarding journey. The Odisha chapter of the KLF will be inaugurated today by the His Excellency the Governor of Odisha. The next move will be to establish a chapter of KLF in Colombo. Our forthcoming venture in India will be a Kalinga-Lanka exhibition of textiles early next year, which will coincide with Sri Lanka's National Day.

We have been overwhelmed by the generous support this seminar has received from many benefactors. I will however mention two institutions without whom this event would not have taken place: The ICCR, who readily agreed to sponsor the project, and the Utkal University, who most willingly took on the academic co-ordination and the local arrangements. I will be failing in my duty if I did not also acknowledge our team in the Kalinga Lanka foundation: in particular, my good friend and colleague Shri.D.P. Bagchi, former Chief Secretary of Odisha and the Secretary of the KLF, Shri Sameer Das, A big round of applause please, for all our benefactors.

Let me conclude by quoting a few lines from the poem 'Sadhava Jhia' (which means the 'the Merchant's Daughter') by Odisha's celebrated poet and my late father, Dr. Mayadhar Mansingh:

“Bijana Bela, Bijana Bela, Kahu Nahin Kahin Boita gala, Boita gala”

The poet laments: Why is our sea shore empty? Where have the boats disappeared?

We would like the shores of Kalinga to be crowded by visitors and boats from Sri Lanka and South East Asia, as it used to be centuries ago. And for the people of Kalinga and Lanka to become, once again, the friendly cousins across the seas.

Jai Hind and Namō Namō Lanka”

Welcome Address by Mr Esala Weerakoon, the then High Commissioner of Sri Lanka to India

“Your Excellency Shri S.C Jamir, Governor of Odisha, The Guest of Honour; the Hon'ble Shri Debi Prasad Mishra, Minister of Industries; the Hon'ble Ashok Chandra Panda, Minister of Tourism; Hon'ble Shri Baijayant Panda, Member of the Lok Sabha; Shri Gokul Chandra Pati, Chief Secretary Government of Odisha, Smt. Namrata Kumar, Deputy Director General, Indian Council of Cultural Relations; distinguished academics and panellists from Sri Lanka and India, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen.

It is an honour and a privilege to attend the international seminar organised by Kalinga-Lanka Foundation on Kalinga-Lanka: Reviving Old Linkages and Exploring New Opportunities. I bring greetings and felicitations from the government and the people of Sri Lanka on this important occasion. At the outset, I wish to express my deep and sincere appreciation to the organizers of this important initiative, namely, Ambassador Lalit Mansingh, Former Foreign Secretary of India and President of the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation, Professor A.K Das, Vice-Chancellor of the Utkal University, Shri D.P Bagchi, Former Chief Secretary of Odisha, and member of the governing board of Kalinga-Lanka Foundation. I also wish to recognize the role of my predecessors Ambassador Prasad Kariyawasam, and Professor Sudarshan Seneviratne in the founding and establishment of the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation. I will be remising my duty if I fail to acknowledge the indefatigable Secretary of Kalinga-Lanka Foundation Mr. Sameer Das.

Distinguished ladies and gentlemen, it is very propitious and timely that the international seminar on Kalinga-Lanka is taking place this year that is November 2015. This has been a momentous year for Sri-Lanka India relations as was very ably and articulately explained to you by the past distinguished speakers. There were many high level visits from Sri Lanka to India and from India to Sri Lanka this year. In February 2015, President Maithripala Sirisena made a State visit to India. In March of 2015, Prime Minister Hon'ble Narendra Modi made an official visit to Sri Lanka and in September 2015, Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe from Sri Lanka made an official visit to India.

Distinguished ladies and gentlemen, the early Kalinga-Lanka relations show a different kind of relationship between a powerful continental power and a neighbouring island kingdom. The historical relationship was based on values such as righteousness, truth, restraint, duty, ethics and reverence for life. I will not go to deep into the historical links because I want to recognize distinguished academics who have also travelled all the way from Sri Lanka to participate in this important occasion. I recognize Professor Nanda Deva, Professor Aruna Manatunga, Professor Sandogami Cooperahewa, and Professor Anoma Abhayaratne. Sadly this morning Professor Asanga Tilakaratne, could not be with us but I am sure he will be joining us in the academic sessions tomorrow.

The Kalinga-Lanka Foundation is an idea whose time has come. As one writer recently suggested in book titled "To Uphold the World: A Call for a New Global Ethic from Ancient India". The author is Bruce Rich as you may know. And to quote him, he said, "We live in a couth Indian world, but more than ever we need an Ashokan ethic". Kalinga-Lanka relations constitute a narrative of timeless relevance. These are the conduits between the Ashokan Empire at its heights of splendour and a neighbouring island nation. The idea of today's discussion is reviving old linkages exploring new opportunities. In it, we can identify two propositions. One, the old linkages need revival. There lies opportunities that call to be assist, identify, and exploited. The mission of Arahant Mahinda of Sri Lanka was the first diplomatic encounter between India and Sri Lanka and the mission of Thirani Sanghamitra who carried the sapling of the Jayashree Mahabodhi is the first recorded bilateral technology transfer between the two nations. The advent of Buddhism, the planting of south sapling of the Jayashree Mahabodhi, the transfer of the custody of the sacred tooth relic are the most inviolate moments of the Lankan history. The stories of Arahant Mahinda, Thirani Sanghamitra, Prince Danta, and Princess Hema Mala evoke sentiments from the deepest recesses of the Sri Lankan subconscious. In other words, it constitutes the living history of bilateral relations between India and Sri Lanka. What of the future? The eastern littoral of India and Sri Lanka offer great opportunities in the Bay of Bengal economic zone. History offers enough evidence to support this hypothesis. The flourishing ports on the Indian eastern shore line were Tamralipti, Palur, Kalingapatnam, Dharanikota, Arikamedu, and Poompuhar. From these ports, ships sailed to the northern coast of Sri Lanka and the principality of Gokanna which is presently at Trincomalee. The Sri Lankan ports of Trincomalee and Lankapatna were used from 2nd century AD in international trade in the Bay of Bengal. The modern day Bay of Bengal was once known as the Kalinga Sea. Today the Bay of Bengal has emerged as a pivotal area of economic activity in the Indo-Pacific area. It is also a part of the Indian Ocean that connects India, Bangladesh, Myanmar, Thailand and Sri Lanka. It offers access to one of the world's vital trading routes. The challenge and promise of the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation is to reignite the spirit.

To conclude, I mentioned the high level visits that have taken place between the leaders of Sri Lanka and India. One of the important factors we are working on at the moment is to sign as early as possible the India-Sri Lanka Economic and Technological Cooperation Agreement. The two Prime Ministers agreed during the official visit of my Prime Minister to India in September, that the first draft of the India-Sri Lanka Economic and Technology Cooperation Agreement will be submitted to the government of India by the end of this year. We don't have much time but I can assure you and all the distinguished members here that Sri Lanka is working very hard to make this timeline and once the draft is approved by the government of India, the Prime Minister of Sri Lanka will invite the Prime Minister of India to visit Sri Lanka in 2016 either in the month of April or May to sign this agreement. On connectivity, once again I wish to reiterate how timely it is that we are having this important international seminar to discuss rebuilding and as the Hon'ble Member of Parliament said revitalizing the linkages between Sri Lanka and India. Some thoughts for the future and I will conclude, as the Hon'ble Minister also mentioned in his statement, perhaps some of the things that we could deliberate at the seminar and take forward is that an international seminar of this magnitude should be held in Sri Lanka next time. We have to establish air connectivity between Bhubaneswar and Colombo. As many of you are aware, Sri Lankan Airlines has daily flights from Colombo to Delhi and Air India has a daily flight from Colombo to Delhi. We also have another airline which is called Mihin Lanka, which flies to various destinations in India and also flies to Dhaka, Bangladesh. So we have to seriously work and think of how we get Sri Lankan Airlines and Mihin Lanka to fly to Bhubaneswar as well. If it has not happened already since we have distinguished academics from Sri Lanka, University of Colombo, from the University of Kelaniya. We have to think of a MoU between Utkal University and a similar university of high standing in Sri Lanka because that could lead to academic mobility and student exchanges between the two institutions and the two countries. I will not take much time as there is a long program and seminar to be attended but once again it is my honour and privilege to be here. I wish the seminar all success. And once again my grateful thanks to the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation and the Utkal University for hosting this international seminar. Thank you very much!"

Welcome Address by Mr S C Jamir, the then Governor of Odisha

"Dignitaries on the dais, ladies and gentlemen. Let me thank Kalinga-Lanka Foundation for extending this invitation to inaugurate the Odisha chapter of the Kalinga-Lanka Foundation today. I take this opportunity to share a few thoughts with the distinguished audience present here. The seminar held in the backdrop of Hon'ble Prime Minister's stress on forging a new partnership with one of our most important neighbours which has great significance. Again the recent state visit by Hon'ble President of Sri Lanka to India promises a strong foundation for consolidating and strengthening the bilateral partnership by harnessing the innermost potentials.

First let me appreciate the efforts of Kalinga-Lanka Foundation in organizing this seminar as part of their endeavour to reset the close relationship that existed between Kalinga, the present day Odisha and Lanka, present day Sri Lanka. The Foundation was established by some likeminded intellectuals of Odisha with active support from the High Commissioner of Sri Lanka aims at reinvigorating the relations by exploring new means of linkages in a number of key sectors like education, art and culture, tourism and investments. Sri Lanka's relations with Kalinga are immersed in the history. The ancient chronicles of Lanka and Kalinga and the archaeological evidences tells us how the ancient people of these two regions enjoyed a strong sense of connectivity. The two regions also enjoyed common Buddhist heritage and it was another key means of strong connectivity. In a wider influence of Kalinga's emperor Ashoka led to the spread of Buddhism in Sri Lanka. The ancient kingdom of Anuradhapura, where Buddhism came from Emperor Ashoka's son Mahinda saw the development of monasteries, which developed into prime seats of learning and were visited by scholars and pilgrims from many parts of Asia. The transfer of Lord Buddha's tooth relic to Lanka, by Kalingan King Guhaseeva, through his daughter Hemamala and son-in-law Dantha, still venerated by the Buddhists in Sri Lanka is a manifestation of this strong bond. The tooth relic is considered as the national symbol of Sri Lanka. Apart from the common Buddhist heritage, history says that the founder of Sinhala race was Kalinga's prince

Vijaya. The trace of Buddhism in Odisha takes one to the ancient period when two merchant brothers Tapusa and Bhalluka from Utkal, now Odisha became Lord Buddha's first disciples. Buddhism became a world religion only after the Kalinga war. For the first time in world history, a conqueror embraced non-violence. Buddhist emperor Ashoka became the patron of the tenets of Buddhism across the world. It is here, where the foundation of great religion and culture was laid. This is the major contribution of Odisha which shaped the social, cultural map of several countries in Southeast Asia, Far East and also in Sri Lanka. In spreading Buddhism throughout the world, Odisha held a torch of peace and non-violence. I think this message of tolerance has a great relevance today as we see the dirty results of intolerance, hatred leading to large-scale violence, destruction and great loss of human lives. This message of peace, non-violence and tolerance is often equally important. In the present world, it is our duty to spread this message further and deeper, both in the region and the larger world. When the world faces the threats of the climate change due to polluted environment, the Buddhist code of environmental protection prescribe both followers and monks should promote symbiotic relationship between the humans and the environment. I expect Kalinga-Lanka Foundation to put a special thrust in this regard.

Buddhism had a great impact in Odisha's history and geography. It has greatly impacted Odisha's life and culture. The flourishing era of Buddhism could be felt and experienced with all walks through the vistas of Buddhism in Odisha which included a number of Buddhist centres of learning, art and establishment of several places. Ratnagiri is believed to be a source of destination for learning Buddhism. This process of Buddhism has been a great source of attraction to outside visitors including the famous Chinese traveller Hiuen Tsang. In fact the diamond triangle of Lalitgiri, Udaygiri and Ratnagiri continues to fascinate visitors and scholars with archaeological findings. These three have produced various masterpieces of Buddhist art which are said to have influenced contemporary schools of Buddhist art in Southeast Asia. Like Buddhism, Kalinga's contribution to maritime trade and commerce is highly significant. Ancient Kalinga due to its proximity with Bay of Bengal had a very long coastline. Kalinga's importance for trans-Asian maritime trade seems to happen to strengthened by its location. It was not just a zest for commerce that the traditional merchants of Kalinga go far off islands. It had its impact on art, culture and tradition as well. Even the folklores of Odisha spread all these regions and the island nation of Sri Lanka is no exception to it. It is heartening to find that what they have built several centuries ago is still prevailing. However, it is an irony of the history that the great maritime tradition has been dwindled and it is high time to revive the traditions for the upliftment of the two regions.

Today, with new horizons of hope rising in Sri Lanka and the rise of India at the world stage offering immense possibilities. We have a historical opportunity to once again renew our historical links and restore our age old ties. Both regions, island nation and Odisha have vast natural resources and human capital. Both are strategically located in the Indian Ocean with easy access to the expanding market of Southeast Asia and East Asia. Promoting joint ventures and facilitating tourism, religious pilgrimage has rich potential benefits for both regions. The future lies in the past which has to be intertwined and the two regions should march in tandem with clear objectives of promoting peace and prosperity. It is time to rediscover and reinvigorate the rich historic connect by way of multifaceted initiative for promotion of modern day people-to-people contact, re-establishment of links, art and culture, education, skill development, science and technology, tourism and business. With Odisha, Sri Lanka should encourage to go for joint ventures.

I hope the foundation will encourage investments to exploit human and mineral resources of the two regions. Sri Lanka is a multi-ethnic, multicultural nation, just like India. Island nation was known for many things including precious stones, ivory and spices. Sri Lanka's social indicators are among the best in Asia. It enjoys near universally gender ratio with a very narrow gender gap. Cooperation will be very vital for improving social indicators. When Odisha is emerging as an education hub in the entire India, networking with leading educational institutions will give students a great exposure. I am told that the foundation would promote studies of Kalinga-Lanka shared history and culture as well as academic cooperation between the institutions of the two regions. It would also promote research, social, cultural and academic ties and give institutional support for scholars and artists. It is heartening that the foundation will be promoting and facilitating the connectivity between Sri Lanka and Odisha. We have a university especially for cultural subjects and linking the university with institutions of island nation will promote studies as well as research to explore new information. I will confine my words to very few thoughts especially the value of ancient linkages and Buddhist heritage as it is the tip of the iceberg. I leave the rest to participants, academicians, and scholars of this seminar. I urge you to focus in your dedication, deliberation not only on sharing your knowledge among yourself but to seek ways and means to protect historical, cultural and intellectual values. More importantly, you can seek ways and means on how historical relations could be used as a tool for creating prosperity in both the regions. With these words I would like to wish the seminar and the initiative by Kalinga-Lanka Foundation all success.

Thank you!"

Broad contours of the Kalinga Lanka Seminar over the six sessions were:

Session 1: Retracing Shared history

The technical sessions of the Kalinga Lanka Seminar were held at the PG Council Hall of the Utkal University, Bhubaneswar. Prof. K.K. Basa of the Utkal University initiated the deliberations by presenting the broad overview of the Seminar and the expected outcome.

Kalinga's historical, cultural and commercial exchanges with Sri Lanka date back to the 6th Century BCE. The historical evidence has been better preserved in Sri Lanka than in India. More research is required on both sides in the following areas:

Sequence of historical events following the voyage of Prince Vijaya to Kalinga.

The Kalinga War and its impact on political, religious and trade relations between the two regions.

The story of Kalinga-Lanka trade and commerce; the linkages of Kalinga and Sri Lanka with South East Asia.

Comparative study of boat building and maritime practices in both regions.

Reasons for Kalinga and Sri Lanka drifting apart after the 11-12th Century.

Session 2: Buddhism: Reviving a Common Heritage

Buddhism formed one of the most powerful links between Kalinga and Sri Lanka in the early centuries. While it established itself as the dominant religion in Sri Lanka, it virtually disappeared from Odisha, as in the rest of India. And yet, the spirit of Buddhism prevails everywhere in Odisha. Not only does Odisha have a wealth of Buddhist archaeological heritage, Buddhism seems to have permeated Odisha's cultural environment. Kalinga was a major centre for Buddhist theological and monastic studies. From Kalinga, Buddhism travelled south to Sri Lanka, east to South East Asia and north to Nepal and Tibet.

Areas of Discussion:

- Comparative evaluation of Buddhist theology in Kalinga and Sri Lanka.
- Kalinga's contributions to Mahayana and Vajrayana/Tantrayana schools of Buddhism.
- Buddhism in Odisha's art and architecture; Speculation about Buddhist linkages with Jagannatha worship; representation of the Buddha in Odisha's art and architecture; transformation of Buddhist temples into Hindu shrines (eg. the Tara Tarini and Marichi temples).
- Revival of the Buddhist connection; promoting pilgrimage and tourism between Odisha and Sri Lanka.

Session 3: Development Tourism and the Buddhist Circuit

Considering the wealth of tourist attractions in both regions, the current exchange of tourists is insignificant. Sri Lanka has a highly developed infrastructure for tourism. Since Odisha and Sri Lanka share similar eco-systems for tourism, Odisha will benefit greatly from joint ventures which will bring in the best-practices in tourism from Sri Lanka to India. Connectivity with Sri Lanka needs to be improved in order to attract Buddhist pilgrims and tourists to Odisha.

Areas of discussion:

- Tourist-friendly development of historical and archeological sites in Odisha and Sri Lanka.
- Deficiencies in the tourism infrastructure in Odisha; Plans to promote increased tourism between Odisha and Sri Lanka.

Delegation Visit to Odisha State Maritime Museum, Jobra, Cuttack

Shri Bhartruhari Mahtab, Hon'ble Member of Parliament of India (Lok Sabha-Cuttack) welcomed the Sri Lankan delegates to the Odisha State Maritime Museum at Jobra, Cuttack on 8th of November 2015. He personally explained many facets of the Museum as well as its historical aspect.

Set up on the banks of river Mahanadi over four acres of land, the museum stands on the site of the ancient Maritime Engineering Workshop that was established by the British in 1869. Apparently, this workshop was set up for building, repair and maintenance of vessels from the provinces of Bihar, Bengal and Odisha under the Bengal Presidency of British India.

The workshop was set up by the then PWD department of British administration through the efforts of a Scottish Engineer GH Faulkner immediately after the 1866 famine in Odisha. The museum has 13 galleries showcasing maritime traditions, vessels, boats and other related artefacts from the ancient age to the colonial era. A library with more than 1000 books and journals has been included for researchers in the museum. Except Monday, the museum remains open for the visitors on all working days from 10 am to 4 pm.

Visit to Odisha's Buddhist Heritage Site of Ratnagiri-Udayagiri-Lalitgiri (the Diamond Triangle)

Monastery at Ratnagiri or the “hill of jewels” situated atop the flat hillock was established in the first half of the fifth century CE, and flourished until the twelfth century CE.

The finest relic of Buddhist art at Ratnagiri is a magnificent doorjamb adorning Monastery 1, one of the two monasteries here. The exquisitely carved chlorite doorframe with gaja-lakshmi on the lintel and the bands of floral, creepers and Gelabai motifs is unique of its kind and marks the highest watermark of decorative art of India.

Scholars of Sri Lanka and Odisha at the entrance of 5th century A.D. Ratnagiri Mahavihara, the prominent Buddhist heritage site of ancient Kalinga Ratnagiri comprises two magnificent monasteries, one of them was double-storied and had an extensive stone paved central courtyard with two-sides of it having a number of cells for habitation of monks. The sanctum enshrines a massive seated Buddha in bhumisparsa-mudra flanked by the standing figures of Padmapani and Vajrapani holding chamaras on each side.

Delegates at the Sanctum of Ratnagiri Buddhist Heritage site

Udayagiri or the “Sun rise Hill”, the most picturesque among the three is situated on the slope of a crescent shaped low hill. Located at the base of verdant rolling hills forming a semi circle, this site exemplifies the blissful and tranquil natural surroundings selected for the construction of Buddhist monasteries in ancient India.

This site, a Mahayana-Vajrayana site was a vibrant center of Buddhist learning and worship between 8th to 13th centuries AD. It has two magnificent Buddhist monastic complexes namely, Madhavapura Mahavihara (Udayagiri-1) and Simhaprasta Mahavihara(Udayagiri-2).

The Mahastupa of a total height of 7m from the ground and 4.8m from pradakshinapatha has niches in each cardinal direction which enshrines seated images of Dhyan Buddhas-Akshobhya (E), Amitabha (W), Amoghasiddhi (N) and Ratnasambhava (S); all inscribed with Buddhist creeds.

Lalitgiri, locally known as Naltigiri is couched between Parabhadi and Landa hills of the isolated Assia range. Iconographic analysis indicates that Lalitgiri had already been established during the Sunga period of the 2nd century BC, making it one of the oldest Buddhist establishment in the world.

The excavations revealed the remains of a massive stupa on hilltop with two reliquaries made of khondalite stone. Within one of these caskets was found a steatite container with a silver casket enclosing a gold casket which contained the relic or dhatu in the form of a small fragment of bone. The hilltop Mahastupa at Lalitgiri is 15 meter in diameter, and is constructed in Sanchi style which is visible from afar.

Another important discovery at the site is the structural remains of an east facing large brick built apsidal chaityagriha (33x11m) with a circular stupa in the centre of the apsidal end of the chaityagraha

INTRODUCTION TO ODISHA:

Odisha, one of the 29th states of India, located at the country's eastern coast was constituted on April 1, 1936 as the first Indian state (pre-independence) on linguistic basis constituting predominantly of Odia-speaking regions. It is the 9th largest state by area, and the 11th largest by population. It is also the 3rd most populous state of India in terms of tribal population with 62 culturally vibrant tribes including 13 primitive tribal groups.

In terms of history, Odisha is the heartland of ancient and powerful kingdoms as Kalinga, Utkal, Odra & Kosala.. It is here only Emperor Ashoka renounced violence, embraced Buddhism and became Dharmasoka from Chandasoka after the Kalinga war. Through vast maritime trade route of Kalinga, Emperor Ashoka propagated Buddhism and made it a world religion.

Odisha, known as the Soul of India, has always enthralled its lovers with its eternal mystical charm, a beautiful poetic cocktail of history, culture and nature, so serene, so pristine, yet scintillating and intoxicating. With the vanishing sea of Chandipur in the North, the architectural marvel of Ratnagiri, the mysticism of Lord Jagannath, the majestic Konark Sun Temple, the dazzling Chilika Lake and the freezing Daringbadi in the tribal hills of the South, Odisha has always been a connoisseur's delight.

Odisha is surrounded by West-Bengal on the north-east, Jharkhand on the north, Chhatisgarh on the west and Andhra Pradesh on the south-west while the Bay of Bengal washes its shores on the south east. The state of Odisha extends from 17.49N latitude to 22.34N latitude and from 81.27E longitude to 87.29E longitude. The state has an area of 155,707 km² and extends for 1030 km from north to south and 500 km from east to west. Its coastline is 485 km long. The state is divided into 30 districts which are further subdivided into 314 blocks.

Owing to its peculiar geographical location and wide range of physical features, Odisha embraces a diversified floristic composition. The extensive ranges of hilly forests, several lofty peaks, long stretches of coastline, excellent riverine system and coastal plains altogether have endowed the state with a wide range of ecological habitats for a diverse and broad spectrum of vegetation. Chilika Lake being Asia's largest brackish water lagoon, covering an area of over 1,100 sq. km, has been the winter haven of migratory birds and is also the sanctuary for the endangered Irrawady Dolphins. The rare species of giant Olive Redley turtles swim for several thousand miles to their ecologically favoured nestling haven of Gahirmatha and Rushikulya in the Odishan coast. Bhitarkanika National Park, located in Kendrapara district of Odisha, is India's second largest mangrove ecosystem. Spread over 672 sq.km. Bhitarkanika is the largest shelter of the endangered saltwater crocodile in India and one of the important Ramsar Wetlands in India.

Through centuries Odisha has retained its cultural identity within the mainstream of pan-Indian culture. It has a distinct tradition of painting, architecture, sculptures, handicrafts, music and dance.

Architecture in Odisha has found its supreme expression in the form of temples, some of which are among the finest in the world. Of these three are most famous: the Lingaraj Temple at Bhubaneswar (11th century), the Jagannath Temple at Puri (12th century) and the great Sun Temple at Konark (13th century). This style of architecture is called as the Kalinga style which consists of a structural duo, the main temple or shrine and the frontal porch. And also the recent discovery of the Buddhist establishments of Ratnagiri, Udayagiri and Lalitgiri by Archaeological Survey of India (ASI), abandoned around 1,000 years ago, is reframing the legacy and grandeur of Kalingan architecture.

Odisha was known as 'Utkal' for its excellence of arts and crafts. The stone and wood carving, silver filigree, applique works, traditional patta painting, palmleaf etching, brass work, dhokra work, tribal jewellery, terracotta, lacquer craft, golden grass craft, horn craft etc are popular crafts of Odisha and offer wide range of artistic as well as utility products.

Odisha has a glorious tradition of handloom weaving since 600 B.C. And today more than 400,000 handloom weavers are enriching this ancient heritage. Odisha is widely known for its Bandha design, which is a unique tie and dye technique (known by the Indonesian name ikat). Among the most notable Bandhas of Odisha are the Nuapatna tie-dye (also known as Khandua) and traditional Sambalpuri tie-dye. Nowadays, the Bandha forms range from simple fabrics with basic patterns to sophisticated cotton and silk sarees with intricate design in the weft or warp or both. An indigenous mingling of silk and cotton, the Bapta, is also very much prevalent and widely appreciated.

INTRODUCTION TO SRI LANKA

Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka, is an island country in South Asia, located in the Indian Ocean to the southwest of the Bay of Bengal and to the southeast of the Arabian Sea. Its geographic location and deep harbours made it of great strategic significance from the period of the ancient Silk Road through to the modern Maritime Silk Road.

Sri Lanka was known to the world in many names such as Tambapanni, Taprobana, Serendib, Ceylon and so on. Different ancient travelers had given these names to Sri Lanka which is giving evidence to its important historic presence. It was ruled by Portuguese, Dutch and the British bringing in variance of language, living styles and architecture. Sri Lanka achieved independence in the year of 1948, on the 4th of February from the British.

The island nation comprises of various natural attractions including golden beaches, blue seawater, rain forests, endemic animals and plants as well as breath taking mountain views. It has attracted travelers from different parts of the world as

In the 19th and 20th centuries, Sri Lanka became a plantation economy, famous for its production and export of cinnamon, rubber and Ceylon tea, which remains a trademark national export. While the production and export of tea, rubber, coffee, sugar and other commodities remain important, industrialization has increased the importance of food processing, textiles, telecommunications and finance. The country's main economic sectors are tourism, tea export, clothing, rice production and other agricultural products. In addition to these economic sectors, overseas employment, especially in the Middle East, contributes substantially in foreign exchange.

The Sri Lankan culture is mainly influenced by Buddhism and Hinduism. The cuisines are subject to same. Being an island nation the consumption of sea food is a very popular segment in the Sri Lankan food practices. The coconut consumption in the food is also common as the soil of a coastal land is the best for the coconut cultivation. Traditionally food is served on a plantain leaf or lotus leaf.

The Sinhala and Tamil New Year which is celebrated annually in the month of April, The Vesak festival in May (birth, enlightenment and the parinirvana of Lord Buddha), Poson festival (the start of Buddhism in Sri Lanka by King Ashoka's son, Mahinda Thero), Deepavali, Eid, and Christmas are a few major festivals celebrated in Sri Lanka. During such seasons, the cities dress up in color and almsgiving and religious offering activities take place all over the country.

HISTORICAL ANECDOTES & SIGNIFICANCE

From the Ceylonese Chronicles, the Mahavamsa, Dipavamsa, Dathavamsa and others, it is known that the people from ancient Kalinga used to travel to Sri Lanka to establish political, religious and social linkages with the Sinhala people.

Kalinga Origin of King Vijaya

According to Ceylonese Pali chronicles Dipavamsa (Island chronicles) and Mahavamsa (Great Dynasty) - it was Vijaya, a prince from Kalinga who founded the Sinhala race in Sri Lanka. The prince along with his 700 followers exiled from their kingdom sailed to Tamraparni and established a new civilization in the island. He belonged to the Kalingan royal lineage. The very name "Sinhala" was the title bestowed to Vijaya's father (in Kalinga) which he inherited. Having founded the kingdom in the name of Sinhala, Vijaya ruled for 32 years. Around 2,500 families of Kalingan origin migrated to Sri Lanka during his rule.

Lord Buddha's Tooth Relic was brought to Annuradhapura from Kalinga

According to Dathavamsa, the King of Kalinga, Guhasiva, who was worshipping the Sacred Tooth Relic of Buddha was threatened by invasion from Pandu, the King of Magadha. Guhasiva secretly sent the Relic to Sri Lanka through his daughter Hemamala and son-in-law Dantakumara from his capital city "Dantapura", to be delivered to his friend Mahasena, the ruler of the Buddhist kingdom of Lanka. They reached Annuradhapura in 310 A.D. and handed over the Tooth Relic to King Meghavanna, the son of Mahasena. The Temple of the Sacred Tooth Relic, Sri Dalada Maligawa, situated in the city of Kandy, is one of the most sacred places of worship in Sri Lanka.

Nissanka Malla of Kalinga lineage becomes a Sinhala King

In the succeeding centuries, Kalinga and Lanka continued their close ties through political, commercial and religious exchanges. It was common practice for the rulers of Lanka to form dynastic alliances with the Kings of Kalinga. One of the greatest monarchs of Sri Lanka, King Vijayabahu-I (1055-1110 A.D.) was married to the Kalinga princess Triloka Sundari (Beauty of the Three Worlds).

It was also not uncommon for Kalinga princes to be anointed as King of Lanka. Nissanka Malla, known as Kirti Nissanka and Kalinga Lokesvara was the son of King Jayagopa of Kalinga who married the daughter of King Parakrambahu. He was said to have established a Kalinga Udyana (Park) and Kalinga Vana (Forest) to commemorate his birth place. A rock inscription of Nissanka Malla at Dambulla mentions that he was of the Kalinga dynasty and a descendant from the race of King Vijaya. Another inscription at Ruwanwelisaya describes him as a member of a royal family of Kalinga. By claiming to be descended from Vijaya, the first king of Sri Lanka, Nissanka Malla justified his right to the throne. He consolidated his position further by declaring that the rulers of Sri Lanka should adhere to Buddhism.
